Duck race – latest!

WITH this spell of fine weather set to continue through the weekend, the committee has decided to go ahead with the duck race which had to be postponed last month.

Details are: Sunday, 29 August, 3pm at The Barton, Laneast, PL15 8PN

Our secretary, Vicky Williams, and her husband, Craig, have kindly offered to host the duck race at their home. There is a flat field for parking near the house and the river Inny (pictured left) and picnic area are a five-to-ten-minute walk downhill.

Vicky says: “4x4s can drive down – or anyone else with an adventurist spirit in a car. You’ll also be able to explore the adjacent woodlands.”

Twinners are invited to arrive, with their picnics, from 3pm and the first race will take place at 3.30. “You buy a duck for the afternoon at a cost of £1, then you pay £1 for each race that you enter it into,” said Vicky. “We will have four or five races and the winning duck owner will receive a pay-out from the tote at the end of each race.”

“If twidders would email me with approximate numbers on vickyandcraigatthebarton@googlemail.com I would appreciate it. I will be out and about this week, but if they prefer to phone they can always leave a message if I’m out on 01566 880103

Jenny Worth will be running a raffle with lots of wine for prizes
